

Hi Pygora!

I can't believe it's time to say goodbye for the summer holidays! What a strange year we've had. I wish we'd been able to complete the year together and I've thoroughly enjoyed every minute of my time with you all. I have many happy memories of us being together and can't wait to see you all again in September!

I'm busy today testing out my activity for my bubble next week, on our last few days of term. I'm hoping to make rockets with them- maybe you would like to have a go at home:

Today, I've made one and released it in our garden- I got covered in vinegar as it went off, and then had to go round to the neighbours and ask for my plastic bottle back... It worked well though!

Squoosh the axolotl is growing well, and has settled in beautifully. He loves the bubbles coming from the filter and likes to float in them like he's having a jacuzzi! We've found out he loves a Waitrose king prawn too- very expensive tastes! His damaged floof has now grown back and he's getting more adventurous and coming to the top of the water to say hello.

Last week I caught Nibbles and Munch having a fight with.... our tortoise! Amilee has the run of the garden in the summer- last year she laid eggs all over. It took us ages to work out they'd come from her! She was not impressed to find out that the guinea pigs had been fed some of her favourite food, so she tried to barge their run in order to get to it herself. Nibbles and Munch didn't know what to do, so decided to squeak loudly until she gave up. Amilee has taken on my cats and won, so I don't think she was phased by it all.

I hope you are all looking forward to the summer holidays. I wonder what you have all got planned? We're looking forward to a bit of camping, and some daytrips out. I think we'll probably do quite a bit of baking too.

Anyway, have a great summer Pygora, and I look forward to seeing you all in September!

Love from Mrs Neall xxxx
