

Hi everyone!

I hope you are all feeling well and staying positive?

It's been lovely chatting to some of you on Purple Mash over the last few weeks. I really miss our conversations and of course hugs!

I know some of you are really missing school and I just wanted you to know that you're not alone. We all miss you terribly too! So, feel free to send me a message on Purple Mash if you just want to say hi or tell me what you've been up to.

It's been a busy couple of weeks in the Farrar household. My husband is a Border Force officer and he's been hard at work keeping us all safe. Meanwhile my daughter and I have been doing Jo Wicks videos every day and going for walks and bike rides. I have not been this fit in years!

We've also been doing loads of reading and played a fun game today called 'Musical Reading'. We spread 10 books out on the floor, then we put some music on and when the music stopped, we had to take it in turns to read 3 pages of each book. It's a bit like musical statues but with reading! We loved it 😊

Over the Easter weekend we set ourselves a little challenge to see how far we could walk into the countryside from our front door. We are lucky to live on the edge of Ashford and we have fields very close to us so we found the closest public footpath and followed it. We ended up walking over 5 miles and found some beautiful woods on the way. Why not try it yourself? Make sure you have an adult with you of course. Let me know what you find! Maybe when we're back at school, we could persuade Mr Harlow to do an explorer walk from the school and see how far we get, what do you think?!

Keep smiling Pygora 😊

Love Mrs Farrar xxx
